DISAPPOINTMENTS AND SHORT RATIONS. The election has been over for ten days and there are many voters who are now beginning to realize the hollow promises, and to brood over their disappointed hopes. It is dawning on many, too, that Alexandria is not the State of Virginia, and that though this city will have for the first time in many years a republican representative in the legislature, his vote will not be necessary to decide momentous questions, nor will he be consulted in the distribution of public patronage.

During the recent canvass it was said that prominent promises were being made to induce voters to vote against the democratic ticket, but not till after the election were the numbers and absurdity of these promises known. It has since been learned that more voters in the city were promised places as guards at the State penitentiary than there are prisoners in that institution; that a police commission would be appointed for this city and new policemen chosen from among the "recruits;" that numbers who would vote "right" would be given places in the different departments in Richmond; that the Alexandria gunners, if they were anti democrats, would be allowed to shoot and capture game when and how they chose, while all others would be excluded from the privilege of firing a gun; that the "faithful" Alexandria fishermen could cast their nets at any and all times, and in such manner as suited them, while their competitors were to be driven from the river, &c., &c.

These and other similar promises were made, and now that a republican has been elected from this city and it has become apparent that when he goes to Richmond he will flock by himself and will be unable to "deliver the goods," many who were caught by the bright alluresments held out to them unite with Puck in saying "What fools these mortals be!" One instance of the many dis-appointments is worth mentioning. A day or so before the election two young men who were taking an active part in the canvass to "down the democrats" were accosted by a friend, though a political opponent, who asked what they were doing. They replied that they had gone into politics and intended making a living out of it. The same two, looking decidedly crestfallen, were seen by their friend a day or two after the election, when the latter said, "You fellows who are making a living out of politics are on d—!—I short rations now, ain't you?" but the only answer he got was a sickly smile.

THE "POCAHONTAS."—Notwithstanding the continued merciless attacks on the Arrow Steamship Company by the New York Herald and other newspapers in the country, the officials still insist that the affairs of the company have been conducted legitimately, and that their original intention of building a steamer after the designs which have been published has never been abandoned, and the friends and well wishers of the enterprise are seemingly confident that the ship will yet be constructed. The newspapers in several of the Northern cities continue their onslaughts, and still ridicule the pretensions and promises of Mr. Fryer and his assistants. The New York Herald is still as confident as ever that the scheme is an illusion, and in its issue of to day says the Maritime Reporter, one of the papers in which pictures of the proposed ship were published, is the "Man Friday" of the enterprise, and says that organ, in bolstering up the scheme, made itself "the most villainous enemy of American shipping known since the Alabama sailed under the Stars and Stripes."

The Herald further says that repeated attempts have been made to get puffs of the Pocahontas into that journal, and that employees have been promised pay if they would give the Pocahontas a "send-off" in the columns of that paper. Two or three days after the statement had been published that the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company were to advance the Arrow Steamship Company a million dollars a man called at the Herald office to see the editor. A reporter was detailed to interview the visitor. The reporter was handed a card by the man, reading, "W. M. Gabrielson, Arrow Steamship Company, No. 115 Broadway," and also several copies of the Maritime Reporter containing engravings and columns of reading matter in regard to the Pocahontas. The Herald says Mr. Gabrielson offered to compensate both the reporter and paper if their services could be enlisted in the enterprise.

WAITED TOO LONG.—Messrs. Linden Kent and James Lowndes some time ago obtained letters of administration in Washington on the estate of John T. Franey, who was killed in the Four Mile Run collision in 1885, for the purpose of prosecuting a claim against the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company for damages. Yesterday Mr. Totten asked that the letters be set aside, on the ground that the District was not the domicile of the deceased. Judge Merrick decided that there had been laches, and the application should have been made in eighty-four days in General Term.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.—A mission will be held in Grace Church, beginning next Monday. Services at 6:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. Special service of intercession Monday next at 4 p. m. for communicants only; all Christians, whether Protestant or Catholic, are cordially invited.

The several Methodist churches of the city will hold a union thanksgiving service in Trinity M. E. Church on Thursday, November 24, at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. Gauss led the Young Men's Christian Association meeting last night.

THE APPEAL WITHDRAWN.—In 1856 the incorporation of Washington advanced $500,000 towards the construction of the Alexandria and Washington Railroad. This money enabled James S. French and his associates to make the first and still the only railway communication between the national capital and the South. It was for a quarter of a century believed that this money had been entirely sunk, but a few days ago the commissioners received a check for $50,958.34, and yesterday a further check for $11,859.27, making in all $61,817.61 on account of the $60,000 advanced over thirty years ago to the Alexandria and Washington Railroad. The road to which the city of Washington advanced the money was, after many vicissitudes, sold at a judicial sale last July for $100,000, and $67,819.31 was the District's share; but $5,000 paid to the attorney, General Eppa Hunton, and other expenses reduced the amount to the sum named. The attorney of the District, Mr. Davis, claimed interest and all, about $175,000, and had filed an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States from the order in the suit of Hay vs. the Alexandria and Washington Railroad, which confirmed the sale, but the appeal has been withdrawn, and the District gets back slightly more than the money it advanced thirty years ago towards the construction of an important railway, which, but for that advance, would not then have been built.

THE LEVY CONCERT.—Next Friday evening "the world's greatest cornetist," Jules Levy, will appear at the Opera House in grand concert. Of a recent performance in Washington, the Republican says: "Levy is, beyond all comparison, the leader among performers on his chosen instrument. His technique is marvelously perfect and his power of expression infinite. Of his company Mme Levy has a rich mezzo soprano voice; Sig. Enrico Battistini has a powerful and flexible tenor voice, and Mlle. Lulu Klein, the contralto, Lithgow James, the baritone, and Herr Max Hirschfeld, the solo pianist, are all good."

POLICE REPORT.—Last night was clear and cool with eight lodgers and four prisoners at the station house.

The Mayor this morning disposed of the following cases:

Kate Harris and Laura Thompson, two women from Washington, arrested by Officer Jones for being drunk and disorderly at the local depot last night, were fined $1 each.

Robert Jackson, colored, arrested by Officer Young, for being drunk at the station house, was ordered to leave the city.

William Campbell, colored, arrested by Officer Franks, for being drunk on the chain gang, was sent back to jail.

COMPLIMENTARY SUPPER.—A supper in honor of the election of Mr. R. Walton Moore to the State Senate from this district, was given last night by Mr. L. M. Blackford, at the Episcopal High School, near this city, at which the new Senator was for five years a student. Besides Mr. Moore and the High School boys other guests to the number of one hundred were at the table. After supper the guest of the evening was called upon for a speech which was enthusiastically received.

PERSONAL.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirk, who have been visiting relatives in this city for the past ten days, left here this evening for their home in Chattanooga, Tenn., much to the regret of the many friends they made during their short stay.

Woman and Her Diseases is the title of a large illustrated treatise, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., sent to any address for ten cents in stamps. It teaches successful self treatment.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

There is talk of establishing a tally-ho line between Washington and Mount Vernon.

The congregation and friends of the Rev. H. T. Sharp gave him a pound party at his residence last night.

There was a "spit" of snow early this morning which, later, was followed by a driving, cold rain, making the day a very disagreeable one.

At all the new passenger depots which are being built along the line of the W. & O., the old high platforms are being removed and only low ones put down.

The two oyster-packing establishments at Rock Point have a large force of hands continually employed. They have a capacity for handling 2,000 bushels per day.

Lannie, the little son of Mr. Harry Kirk, on Thursday celebrated his seventh birthday by giving a party to which all his little friends in the neighborhood were invited.

The game of foot ball between the clubs of the Kendall School, of Washington, and the Episcopal High School, which was to have been played to-day, was postponed on account of the rain.

A gentleman from Washington, whose residence some time since was robbed, was in the city to-day with Detective McDevitt to see Billy Williams, now confined in jail here, who, it is believed, was implicated in the robbery.

Advertisers, send time always comes before harvest. Don't put off your holiday advertising until it is too late. Now is the time to notify the people what you intend to do for the holidays and thus keep them in remembrance of you.

The ladies having in charge the fair to be held for the purpose of raising funds for the monument to the Confederate dead interred in this city, met last night and decided not to hold the fair until the improvements to the Alexandria Light Infantry armory have been completed.
